

Objectives of the AONB Planning and Transportation Seminar February 2008 on “Historic Landscape Characterisation”

- The Seminar aims to build on the 2006 Planning and Transportation seminar on Landscape Characterisation Assessment

OBJECTIVES

- To provide understanding and knowledge of the historic landscapes of the AONB, through practical involvement and participation
- To increase awareness of the contribution a landscape’s history makes to its present day character and distinctiveness
- To create an understanding of the main processes by which an HLC is created and the types of information contained within an HLC.
- To demonstrate how the results from AONB can be presented
- To show how using the data from Historic Landscape Characterisation allows better informed decisions to be made for those engaged in planning and conservation.

OUTCOMES

- At the end of the day participants should have a practical understanding of Historic Landscape Characterisation and be able to appreciate the types and depth of information that it provides.
- The participants should be able to understand the different ways in which the results can be presented and appreciate the ways in which they can be used.
- The participants should be in a position to give feedback on the most useful ways the results from the HLC can be provided.
